Carpus+Partner AG is an internationally active consulting and planning company with 300 employees at six locations in Germany. We work closely with the life sciences and high-tech industry to develop, plan, and build highly complex laboratory, production and office buildings in which people thrive. In line with our mission “We develop buildings that increase knowledge – for a hopeful future”, our interdisciplinary teams provide start-to-finish solutions – from idea to value creation for properties. Our client base includes medium-sized and globally operating pharmaceutical and biotech companies, the research industry as well as university and research institutes. At Carpus+Partner, we combine first-rate engineering with creativity. Our cross-functional general planning teams in the areas of architecture, technical building equipment, laboratory and process planning as well as energy+building physics effectively promote the innovative power of our clients.
