With more than 1.2 million products antibodies-online.com is the largest distributor of proteomics research products worldwide, serving customers in 65 countries. Our websites: www.antibodies-online.com, www.antikoerper-online.de, www.anticorps-enligne.fr, and www.kangti-zaixian.cn help scientists find, order and apply the right life science reagents for use in their experiment. We offer the fastest search on the web, smart filters, comparison lists, and expert level scientific support to make finding the right product easy. Researchers find the rich product data and detailed product descriptions on our site supremely useful. (For example, we host more than 229,000 product images, and 76,000 direct and topical product citations in peer reviewed scientific journals). antibodies-online was founded in 2006 as a spin-off from RWTH Aachen University. Growing rapidly it moved from offices at Fraunhofer Institute IME to Schloss Rahe Business Center in 2009. Today it has a presence in Atlanta (USA), Aachen (Germany) and Shanghai (China).
