Founded (year) 1987

Bisping medical successfully develops, manufactures and distributes medical devices and disposables since more than 25 years. Our core markets are Cardiology and Heart Surgery with focus on Electrophysiology (EP) and Cardiac Rhythm Management (CRM) but we also serve customers in Interventional Cardiology, Angiology and Radiology.

For developing new products we work closely together with several research institutions, one of them being near-by RWTH Aachen University. Production takes place in our own clean rooms and within a strong network of local and international manufacturing partners.

Our main business is direct sales and distribution of medical devices and disposables to hospitals in Germany and neighboring countries. We have our own sales force covering Germany and Austria and well established partners in most European countries.
