Founded 2018

medical magnesium develops metallic bioabsorbable implants for orthopedic and trauma surgery. The implants are mechanically stable and physiologically degradable after fracture healing. A second surgery to remove the implants becomes needless.

We are dedicated to offer surgeons and patients tailor-made, highly functional magnesium-based surgical implants. medical magnesium contributes to a next generation of implants, which make more and more single-surgery therapies possible. In close collaboration with leading users from orthopedic and trauma care, we transfer technological innovation into medical devices.

medical magnesium is located in Aachen, North-Rhine Westphalia. In the empowering environment of leading medical technology companies and the RWTH Aachen university, we have evolved from an idea to a fast growing startup.
