Your guide for clinical data

MEC//ABC GmbH specializes in guiding medical device producers through the challenges of the new medical device regulation (MDR). MEC//ABC develops concepts and strategies for the identification of the type of necessary clinical data for clinical evaluation and post market surveillance, especially post market clinical follow-up. With our experience in clinical research, we support you with the collection of clinical data and will find out which and how many clinical data is going to be “sufficient clinical data” for your products.
